restaurant - absolutely piped drinking stout, salad, pork + sea + ice cream for £5 for the three of us! Returned to the hotel where we had a Break out before ordering breakfast at 7am, with a view to an early start.

Set off from hotel 0745, & took taxi to

29/12/81 Tuesday

Arrived at Bhainsi tower at 6:00am and prepared for sunbats which duly arrived at 8.30. Quite comfy. The journey took about 5 1/2 hrs and we travelled through some impressive steep hills - a few still approached - and rivers flowing over rocky gorges. Fascinating glimpse of what would well have been an ibisbill, evidently they winter in the area. After arriving at Pokhara checked into a guest house, grabbed some lunch and went for a walk by pleasure lake. V attractive area, with the Annapurna range in the background.

Got up even after 7 am and had a breakfast of porridge & coffee before walking downriver for about a mile, saw several jack-tails

 Peter & was up into the forest, not v. productive; so returned to find Peter at the hotel. Walked along river again until 5.4.30. ordered food, and sat talking with a group of Americans & Canadians who have just walked about 15k over 7,000' hills to Birchenhead. Good laugh.

2/1/82 SATURDAY

Got up early and had porridge for breakfast - the packet up & set off up the hill, which we did in about 1 hr 40 min - not bad, but we needed 1 1/2 hr not one we got the ... Decided to go via Landark & Shropes back to Rotherham - or so we thought. We eventually reached Blacksk at 3.30 and as the clock was coming down, imited ourselves into the biggest hare we could find. I got some balloons over which covered great amusement but became a bit of a drag as the whole village seemed to want me. If we combine to Shampas (all yet decided) it may well take 2 more nights back to Pokhara. Kate was tremendous as we shuffled up a damn tiring path, every trail apparently, dressing in a different way - so lots of backtracking. Found numerous possible down birds and was very disappointed!

4/11/82 Monday Lunenburg → Newlands → Pok

Spent a good night at the lodge in Lunenburg; I was a little cold about 4-5 am. Breakfasted well, and set off for Newlands at about 0830 in 2. Raced it, after a steady walk at approx 1200, the down the hill. We started from there on a wet, took a short side into Pokhara! Made up for it though by walking  $9/10$  in the way from the shining hospital to the lake side area, before taking a nip off taxi 15ps for about  $3/4$  mile. Arrived about 3.45 in Pok.

TUESDAY

Had a poor night's sleep, first I felt odd, then I began to act as if I had a bit of a chill, when I got up at about 0745 felt quite wasted. Managed to stagger round the lake for an hour or so, before returning for breakfast. Went into town for a bit of shopping - I purchased a small brown pot, with some table mats. Returned to outside, and had a meal, then took a boat over the lake for a walk along the fresh/water shore. Very pleasant to be away from the crowds.

6/1/82 Wednesday.

More fishing 100% for a trout. Went over to the far side of the lake and up the track 1 found last night after a fairly long search, found small in a mixed bird flock, quite expert to sit with your back against a tree with birds all around.

 I tried "pishing" and this seemed to work with the smaller birds some of which came repeatedly to within a few feet to see what was going on. After returning for breakfast, we went off to Segner's Tal & Rogner Tal lakes. These were v. picturesque and empty & peaceful. Tried a boat to take us around the edge. When the bus left before it set off for Pottum) I saw Lord Delmond's wife in a new Gorkha (andover! didn't go on as we would have lost our seats on the bus! oh. we were v. sorry.

7/1/82. Thursday.

Got up about 6 am and got ready to catch the bus. Got to the Swin Restaurant c. 6.30 only to find that the Swin bus wasn't coming and we had to get on a replacement bus. Eventually this turned up and it proved to be a real home shaker, and I crumpled for me with my long legs. After several false starts we eventually set off. It was a super clear day, and we had good views of the countryside as we roared towards Kathmandu. We arrived at approx 2.30 pm feeling a bit worn for wear. Nothing exciting seen on the journey except for a male Royal siskin and a couple of wild creepers.

11/1/82 - Monday -

Hired a bike and cycled out towards Sheepri with the idea of walking up as near to the top as possible. It took about 1 hr 10 min to cycle to a small town at the foot of the climb to Sheepri.

I left the bike at the police station and walked for about 40 min before reaching the entrance to the forested area. This was done out over scrub lower down, with large trees higher up. I walked for about 1 1/2 hr without much success following a path by the stream. Scrub is down that birds disappeared and were impossible to find. Eventually reached this forested slopes - even here I didn't hit a bird park - which was a great shame as the area obviously has considerable potential.

Started back about 1.30pm reaching Kathmandu by 2.20pm and faster than coming - the bike back, forested area at high speed was quite being!

Got up fairly early, ate breakfast bleed up at Trekken Lodge & set off for the airport. Arrived about 10.45, cleared baggage etc etc only to find plane delayed. Eventually we took off at 1400 hrs - really amused as a while ago I had hoped to spend at the Taj zone. It's flight over Northern India was v interesting we stopped at Varanasi & one stop small place before Agra. Caught a bus into Agra, and was dropped off at the Jaisal hotel; this was good and quite reasonable.
Took a quick walk into town to see the Taj - which proved to be quite spectacular. The building seemed quite small & perfectly proportioned was it, but when you got close it was immense. Kate got hooked onto exotic walk & today was which is phenomenally expensive - from quite common. Getting it v beautiful! I'm not real sure. Kate however was seen. Still undecided whether to get off tomorrow to Sharjah, or stay over night.
